PART of the plan for the future of the African people is to give them a say in their own affairs. This is a noble aim, and it is one that the world should support. But it is also a plan that is being carried out in a very hasty and uncoordinated manner. The result is that the African people are being given a false sense of their own power and importance. They are being told that they are the masters of their own destiny, when in fact they are still very much under the control of the white man.

HE was laughing when I met him in one of the streets of Salisbury. He was a young man, about 25 years old, with a bright, cheerful expression. He was wearing a dark suit and a white shirt with a red tie. He was holding a briefcase in his right hand and a cigarette in his left. He was looking at me with a smile and saying, "Hello, my friend. How are you?"

THE speaker's shouting began to attract public notice. By the time he had finished his speech, a large crowd had gathered around him. He was a young man, about 25 years old, with a bright, cheerful expression. He was wearing a dark suit and a white shirt with a red tie. He was holding a briefcase in his right hand and a cigarette in his left. He was looking at me with a smile and saying, "Hello, my friend. How are you?"

EVERYONE knows that the world is a very complex and confusing place. There are many different people and cultures, and each one has its own way of thinking and feeling. It is often difficult to understand the people of other countries, and it is even more difficult to understand the people of our own country. But if we try to understand them, we will find that they are all very much the same. They are all looking for the same things: peace, happiness, and a better life.

U.S. Launches Oil Plan for W. Europe

WASHINGTON, Saturday (Reuters).—The U.S. Government last night launched its emergency plan to sell oil to West Europe to meet the critical shortage resulting from closure of the Suez Canal.

Fifteen U.S. oil companies have authorized with President Eisenhower's approval to sell oil to West Europe. The plan is to sell oil to West Europe in the amount of 100,000 barrels a day for the next three months. The oil will be sold at a price of $1.50 a barrel, which is the same as the price of oil in the United States.

Soviets Deny Oil Offer to France

LONDON, Saturday (Reuters).—Moscow Radio today broadcast a statement by TASS denying reports that the Soviet Union was negotiating the sale of oil to Britain and France.

The TASS statement said: "The present problem is essentially a transportation problem. The number of oil tankers available to carry oil is not sufficient to maintain oil consumption at normal levels everywhere. The shortage of tankers also means that although the world's supply of oil is adequate under present conditions, normal output cannot be shipped from the producing areas of the Middle East."

U.K. Labour Sees Early Election

LONDON, Saturday (Reuters).—Two Labour M.P.s today warned Labour Party members to be prepared for an early general election.

At a meeting of the Labour Party in London, Mr. Arthur Burns said that in his view a general election might come any week now. He said that the Labour Party should be prepared to meet the challenge of an early election.

Turkish Army Takes Measures For Defence

The Turkish Defence Ministry declared yesterday that the Turkish armed forces had taken "natural and normal" measures for the defence of the country in order to meet today's conditions.

The ministry said that the Turkish armed forces were well equipped and ready to meet any challenge. It said that the Turkish government was determined to defend its territory and its people.

France, U.K. to Make 'Concerted' Effort for Israel-Arab Settlement

WASHINGTON, Saturday.—Britain and France expect to receive assurances from the U.N. Secretary-General by Monday that Egypt has agreed to the immediate beginning of work in unblocking the Suez Canal.

The U.N. Secretary-General, Dag Hammarskjöld, is expected to announce that Egypt has agreed to the immediate beginning of work in unblocking the Suez Canal. This is a major step towards the settlement of the Suez crisis.

Allies Await Cairo Consent To Immediate Canal Clearance

WASHINGTON, Saturday.—The Acting Prime Minister, Mr. R. A. Butler, Lord Salisbury, and Mr. Harold Macmillan, Chancellor of the Exchequer, were the permanent heads of the French and British Foreign Offices, Mr. Louis Jones and Sir Ivone Kirkpatrick, and the Ambassadors in the two capitals, M. The Allies are waiting for the consent of the Egyptian government to the immediate clearance of the Suez Canal. This is a crucial step towards the resolution of the crisis.

U.N. Chief Seen Joining Bid

By MAURICE CARR, Jerusalem Post Correspondent
PARIS, Saturday.—The likelihood of a concerted Franco-British move within the next few days in favour of an Arab-Israeli peace settlement, was announced today by the principal Quai d'Orsay spokesman, M. Pierre Baraduc.

He said that "it is imperative that we find ways and means of settling the Palestinian problem on an enduring basis. We have the impression that our plans are making headway and gaining the support of a certain number of powers" — in response to questions, the spokesman stated that these included the U.S. and Britain — "and even winning the backing of the U.N. Secretary-General."

ISRAEL PULLS BACK ANOTHER BRIGADE

NEW YORK, Saturday (Reuters).—The Israel delegate to the U.N. Mr. Abba Eban, said today that Israel had withdrawn another brigade from Egypt and would go back 36 miles from the Suez Canal by Monday.

Mr. Eban said that Israel was determined to achieve a peaceful settlement of the Suez crisis. He said that Israel was willing to make concessions, but it was also determined to defend its own interests.

In The Supreme Court Sitting in Court of Criminal Appeals

Before the President (Justice Olshan), Justices Goldstein and Wilton.

Unauthorized Sale of Live-stock Supplied by Jewish Agency A Serious Offense

The Supreme Court allowed an appeal against the conviction of the appellant on July 20, 1966, (C.R. 330/66).

Avraham Zecher, appellant, v. The Attorney General, Respondent. (C.A. 163/66).

The appellant, while still a minor, was charged in the Tel Aviv District Court, under section 276(b) of the Criminal Code, with selling live-stock, property entrusted to him for safe custody. Judge Harish had sentenced him to two months' imprisonment, in addition to one year's suspended sentence.

Justice Olshan, in his judgment, said that the appellant, who was a minor at the time of the offence, had been entrusted to him for safe custody, and that he had not acted in good faith.

Justice Goldstein, in his dissenting opinion, said that the appellant, who was a minor at the time of the offence, had been entrusted to him for safe custody, and that he had not acted in good faith.

Justice Wilton, in his dissenting opinion, said that the appellant, who was a minor at the time of the offence, had been entrusted to him for safe custody, and that he had not acted in good faith.

25 Die in Algeria Bomb Blast

ORAN, Saturday (Reuters). - Twenty-five persons were killed and 25 wounded in a bomb blast in Oran, Algeria, which was wrecked by bombs yesterday.

Doctors and nurses worked all day tending the injured under the light of floodlights.

One of the bombs exploded in a shop, a food store and a flower of an apartment block.

Troops patrolled the town today.

French police in Constantine today reported the arrest of three young Muslim women members of a terrorist organization in the town.

The women acted as liaison agents in the network which included a Muslim doctor, and which aimed at organizing terrorism in Constantine and supplying Algerian insurgents in the region with medicines and funds.

Aircraft, helicopter-borne troops, and artillery were in action against insurgents north of Oran in western Algeria. The operations continue.

Patterson Wins Heavyweight Title

CHICAGO, Saturday (Reuter).—Floyd Patterson knocked out Archie Moore in the fifth of a scheduled 15-round bout to become world heavyweight boxing champion.

The 21-year-old Patterson, who became a father a few hours before the fight, thrilled a near capacity crowd at Madison Square Garden when Moore half way through the fifth round. Just before he had slipped to the floor. The referee signified his gloves and Moore was away. Young Moore on Olympic Games middle weight champion four years ago.

A hard right put Moore, veteran of 20 years in the ring, and the world light-heavyweight champion, to the canvas. Moore struggled to his feet at the count of nine, but Patterson was on him again. Moore was hit with a third-round left. That was the end. Moore went flat on his face and did not stir as the count of 30 was called over him.

THE KNOCKOUT came in 10 minutes, 22 seconds of the fight round.

It had been Patterson's fight from the beginning. He took command with clever offensives, weaving and dodging, his hands hitting spurs. He tied up Moore as if the latter were a novice. Moore several times tried to work himself out of trouble but every device he tried, every bit of craftsmanship which he dragged from his repertoire, was futile. He fought against the clever weaving and ducking of the youthful Patterson.
